Dear Parents/Carers,

Year 7 Assessment Week

On Monday 9th June, all Year 7 students will start their assessment week. Subject teachers in English, maths and science will set an assessment that incorporates learning from across the year. Some other subject teachers may also choose to run a small assessment during that week, you will be able to see the full timetable below. The assessment will take place in the classroom and teachers will save relevant revision materials and a list of revision topics on the google classroom.

For the next two weeks, there will be no English, maths or science homework in order to give students time to revise for their subject assessments. In form time, students will be shown some useful revision strategies and subjects teachers will be planning revision lessons this week and after half term to support them.

These assessments will not be used for setting, but will be a useful indication of current progress at the end of Year 7. More importantly, they will serve as an excellent practice for exams in later years by learning essential revision strategies and building their confidence with independent revision.

We will talk to the students about revising little and often. A small amount of revision each day is better than revising large chunks once a week. I will make my revision strategies slideshow available on the school website for any parents or carers who might find this useful. Homework club (3pm - 4pm Monday to Thursday) will be available for Year 7 students who would like a place to revise where Mrs Cottenden is available to help. If students would prefer a quiet, independent study area, the library is available after school until 4pm.

Please see the assessment timetable on the website here.

Please ask if you have any questions.

Yours faithfully,

Sonja Nunneley
